OPENING REMARKS

The opportunity to participate in any school's celebration of a major event such as a 25th Anniversary is a great pleasure, but the Westview 25th Anniversary far exceeded my expectations. To be able to walk around the school and overhear 25 years worth of former students becoming re-acquainted was a tremendous experience. People were really caught up in the exercise of updating one another on their lives and reliving old Westview happenings.

It is at times like these that educators can get great satisfaction in observing the life successes achieved by former students and in reflecting that we may have played some small part in preparing our students for their adult lives.

There is a lesson to be learned from this type of celebration by current Westview students. When you are in the middle of pressures from exams, tests, assignments and demands from teachers and parents, the path ahead can certainly seem long, hard and difficult. It must seem like the end will never come. All the hard work and accompanying pressures can never be fun when you're in the middle of them, but the satisfaction will come when the work is completed and you know you have done a good job. Through the hard work the end result should be the skills, the knowledge and the attitudes which will enable you to be successful in life.

Some day in the future each one of you will have the opportunity to attend another Westview reunion - perhaps the 50th, and you too will reflect on the work, the interactions with teachers, the friendships and experiences shared.

T. Kennedy, Principal Sem I

Anitra Basant, Editor

25 years ago, Westview put forth its very first yearbook and my predecessors had hoped that Westview would continue to carry on the tradition of the yearbook well into the next century. This year with the support of our new principal Ms. Twohig, we have finally secured the yearbook in the form of a course commencing September 1993, and with the help of York Teacher Candidate Paul Johnston, we have reopened the darkroom for continual use by current and future yearbook staffs. With these two victories, I can only hope that the staff of '92-'93 has made producing the yearbook easier to those who will take on this book in years to come.

You would think after the first time around things would get easier, but did you know it takes 9 months to produce a yearbook? After doing this 2 years in a row, I honestly believe having a baby must be easier.

I can't say that my staff was the most efficient, but they were the most eager, talented and craziest group ever to assemble a yearbook. On more than one occasion, I can recall the mutual feeling of surrender, but determination and a lot of pizza and pop kept us going all those late nights. I enjoyed sharing this torture with the likes of the lume crew (Julie, Amphay and Nilton), the short people (Linda and Hoang), Sheryl and George (you can stop arguing) and Vanessa (My gosh!)

Finally, to my friend, teacher, surrogate mother and saviour all rolled into one, Joy. You are the epitome of the good Samaritan of a glutton for punishment! Yet, we've shared many wonderful experiences, both fun and educational. I can only say thank you and I love you all.

To Westview, know that we are all a part of one family. Only at Westview do you find that everyone supports each other and no matter what anyone say, take pride in your school and take pride in who you are.

Joy Goodman, Advisor

These yearbooks are going to be the death of me! (I know, it was an obvious line, but hey, you gotta go for the laughs when you can.) Working on a yearbook is no easy task (just ask anyone who's tried it), however its one heck of a learning experience for all of us who are involved. There are endless uncontrollable delays, glitches, catastrophes and otherwise totally frustrating experiences (I'm doing a great selling job, eh?) The one thing that somehow manages to happen is that "You learn". I always thought that that was my job and why students came to school. I am happy to help students produce a yearbook worthy of them despite or perhaps because of all of the above. One thing I do have to add is that every years book should strive to be better than the previous years.

Not too many people have the option and sheer stubborn attitude to try to do it again. I am delighted that Anitra did just this. We've shared a lot of great experiences over the last couple of years. And here we are with '93's book in your hands and 'My Goodness' (tribute to Vanessa) its great. But, hey, you know what I mean, you're reading it right now! Enjoy!

Margo Twohig, Principal Sem. II

"Being an active participant in Westview's twenty-fifth year in operation has been an exhilarating experience for me. The energy and enthusiasm of staff and students indicate an unflagging commitment to excellence in education.

During this year of celebration, many new and exciting projects were launched - most notably the Westview-York University Project in which Westview became a demonstration school for urban education, benefitting both teacher candidates and Westview students. Through this and other innovative initiatives, opportunities for students continue to expand.

While we reflect on the achievements of the last twenty-five years with satisfaction, we look to the future which beckons with the promise of continued success for students who grasp each moment to pursue excellence.

In my short time at this school I have been extremely impressed with the excellence of our students and staff. Together they are responsible for creating a dynamic, productive and caring environment. Student success is definitely the focus of all the energy in this school. It is a pleasure for me to be here. I am dedicated to working with all of you within the school and the community to share our positive and successful experiences with each other. It is essential that everyone know the outstanding achievements of our students that are common and ongoing.

I look forward to participating in Westview's continuing dedication to excellence. My commitment is to work with all staff to implement the mission of our Board which is "...to empower every student to learn, to achieve success, and to participate responsibly in a pluralistic, global society."

Al Tatem, Superintendent

Congratulations, Westview, and good wishes for the future!"

I am very pleased to have this opportunity to congratulate the students and staff of Westview Centennial Secondary School on this your 25th Anniversary. This special 25th edition of the Westview Park Bench will provide each of you with memories for years to come of the people and events that have highlighted this year. It will also provide a reminder as to how the school has changed over the years. The fashions and music have changed but Westview's traditions have not. The school's reputation for caring staff and students, high expectations for academic achievement and a fine co-curricular program remain. The large turnout of former Westview students and staff at your reunion last November was a testimony to the pride people feel in being associated with Westview.

Westview today continues to be a leader in a number of areas. The Westview/York University project, Cities in Schools, the introduction of broad-based technology, and the destreamed grade 9 program, are a few initiatives for which you are well known.

I know that many students have contributed in a variety of ways to producing this very fine yearbook. You should be very proud of your achievement. Sincerely,

Veronica Lacey, Director of Education

WESTVIEW CELEBRATES 25 YEARS

On November 7th over 1,600 former students and staff helped Westview celebrate its twenty-fifth birthday in a big way! In addition, to rekindling a lot of great memories the former "Westview-ites" donated $3,500 to the present student council and are planning to establish a scholarship program to assist current students of the school.

Festivities at the school began in the cafetorium with words of welcome from Principal T. Kennedy and Superintendent B. Hogarth. Our local M.P.P. and ex-Westview student George Mammoliti, assisted by trustees Stephanie Payne and Sheila Lambrinos, then cut the ribbon opening the school to former students and staff. The halls and classrooms were soon jammed with people renewing acquaintances, catching up on old times and examining yearbooks and the other displays of memorabilia that lined the halls. Some former students came from as far away as Vancouver and California to help celebrate the event. Many took the opportunity to meet with their former teachers and even to set at the desks that they had once called their own.

Earlier in the day a staff brunch at the Weston Golf and Country Club provided an opportunity for over 200 present and former staff to get together to reminisce about the great times they had working at Westview. Reunions among students and staff were still going strong when the giant cake was served at the end of the day. The revelry continued far into the night with dancing and more reunions as the festivities moved to the Regal Constellation Hotel.

Current students played a major part in helping to make the day a huge success. Drama students staged a series of humorous one act plays around the reunion theme. Members of the student council and others helped out with the organization of the event. Excellent displays of memorabilia constructed by our history students helped to stir the memories of all who saw them!

Students from the early years remembered the days when Westview housed 600 students and 47 staff, when Jane and Finch were two lane roads and when farms bordered the school on the north and west. Graduates from the mid-seventies recalled when Westview had over 2,500 students, 155 staff and 26 portable classrooms. Musicians recalled the Westview Band trips to England and the Maritimes. Former athletes were impressed by the displays of team memorabilia and trophies and were gratified to learn that our current athletes carry on the proud Westview traditions.

It was a great day - a day that left lasting impressions of shared memories, good feelings and pride in having been a student of Westview.

Thanks to the following members of the 25th Reunion Committee for a great day. Walter Gula, Shirley Pearl, Doreen Corneliuss, Greg Peters, Irma Chant, Joe Jenkins, Earl Claxton, Harold Bickerstaff, Cynthia Milne, Marcello Chiapetta, Ivas Koskins, Maureen McCullough, Dan Conte, Nancy Pickard, Corrine Hall, Bill Motton, Rose Chiapetta, Rita DeMontis, Marilyn Cambria, Helen Kennedy, and the entire Office Staff.

COMMENCEMENT '92

ommencement marks a milestone in the lives of high-school students. On the one hand, it is the culmination of fifteen years of hard work and dedication and, on the other hand it launches students into their futures. Many will go on to post-secondary institutions to further broaden or specialize their knowledge while others make the leap into the real world of work and independence. For some, it is one of the most significant events thus far in their young lives. As its name implies, commencement is merely a beginning, but on this night, young people come together to reflect on the past.. friendships forged over the years, favourite and not so favourite teachers, amusing and not so amusing classes. But, most importantly, it is a chance to come together to share future plans and remember past successes.

On November 6th, we celebrated the 24th commencement in Westview's 25th year of operation. While the faces have changed over the years, the air of hushed anticipation, the electric excitement, and sheer terror remains much the same. Students shift nervously from foot to foot as they strain to hear their names called, (will they pronounce my name correctly?...will I faint?...will I trip and fall flat on my face?...will my peers and family be proud of me?). And then, the long walk across the stage, the handshake and awarding of the diploma and finally, back in their seats, the long sigh of relief--- they made it!

RAMI GARG, VALEDICTORIAN 1991/92

When I first came to Westview I was scared, scared of the reputation presented by the community, afraid of the people, the size of the school, and the challenge that lay beyond. That challenge was to receive the best education possible despite what others had to say about our school. Even though I was afraid, as I am sure many of you were, I was also determined to try and to succeed.

I will never forget Westview and all that it means to me. I will never forget my teachers and how dedicated they were in helping all of us strive for excellence. I will never forget the wonderful friends and people I met here and all of the laughs and good times we have had. Remember the camping trip to Mono Cliffs where we got stuck in the cold and dark caves? Remember the pride we felt in Westview when one of our sports teams won yet another North York championship? How many remember the science Olympics, when it was okay to throw water balloons and make alcohol?

To the students continuing at Westview: A school and its success is not dependent on its reputation. The success of a school weighs heavily on the people in it and how much they are determined to succeed. A school is what you make it. You must explore all of its facilities and its options and then use it to the best of your advantage. You must make the school work for you and then use it for optimum success. The most important thing to remember is to try. As our school motto says (Nos omnia tentemus), "We must attempt all things."

We are full of promise, confidence, success and courage. We have come a long way and have had to overcome many obstacles, but we did finally make it together. Looking at you not only do I see young men and women, but I also see the future. I see us as the future teachers and healers, builders and creators, environmentalists and engineers, and mothers and fathers. It is now up to us to take our abilities and put them to use in homes, communities, cities and in our countries. We must take these abilities and use them to accept the challenges of life and strive to succeed in whatever it has to offer.

FUTURE WILDCATS.

One of Westviews highlights is the daycare program. The children are the siblings and children of Westview students. Students from the parenting and leadership classes have the privilege of teaching these kids communication skills and gross and small motor skills. Miss Beth runs a comprehensive program that even helps to prepare our students to be parents. Participating in the daycare encourages our students to accept the dependency of others and provides positive role models for the children.

"My mother? With a cute face like this? I don't think so!"

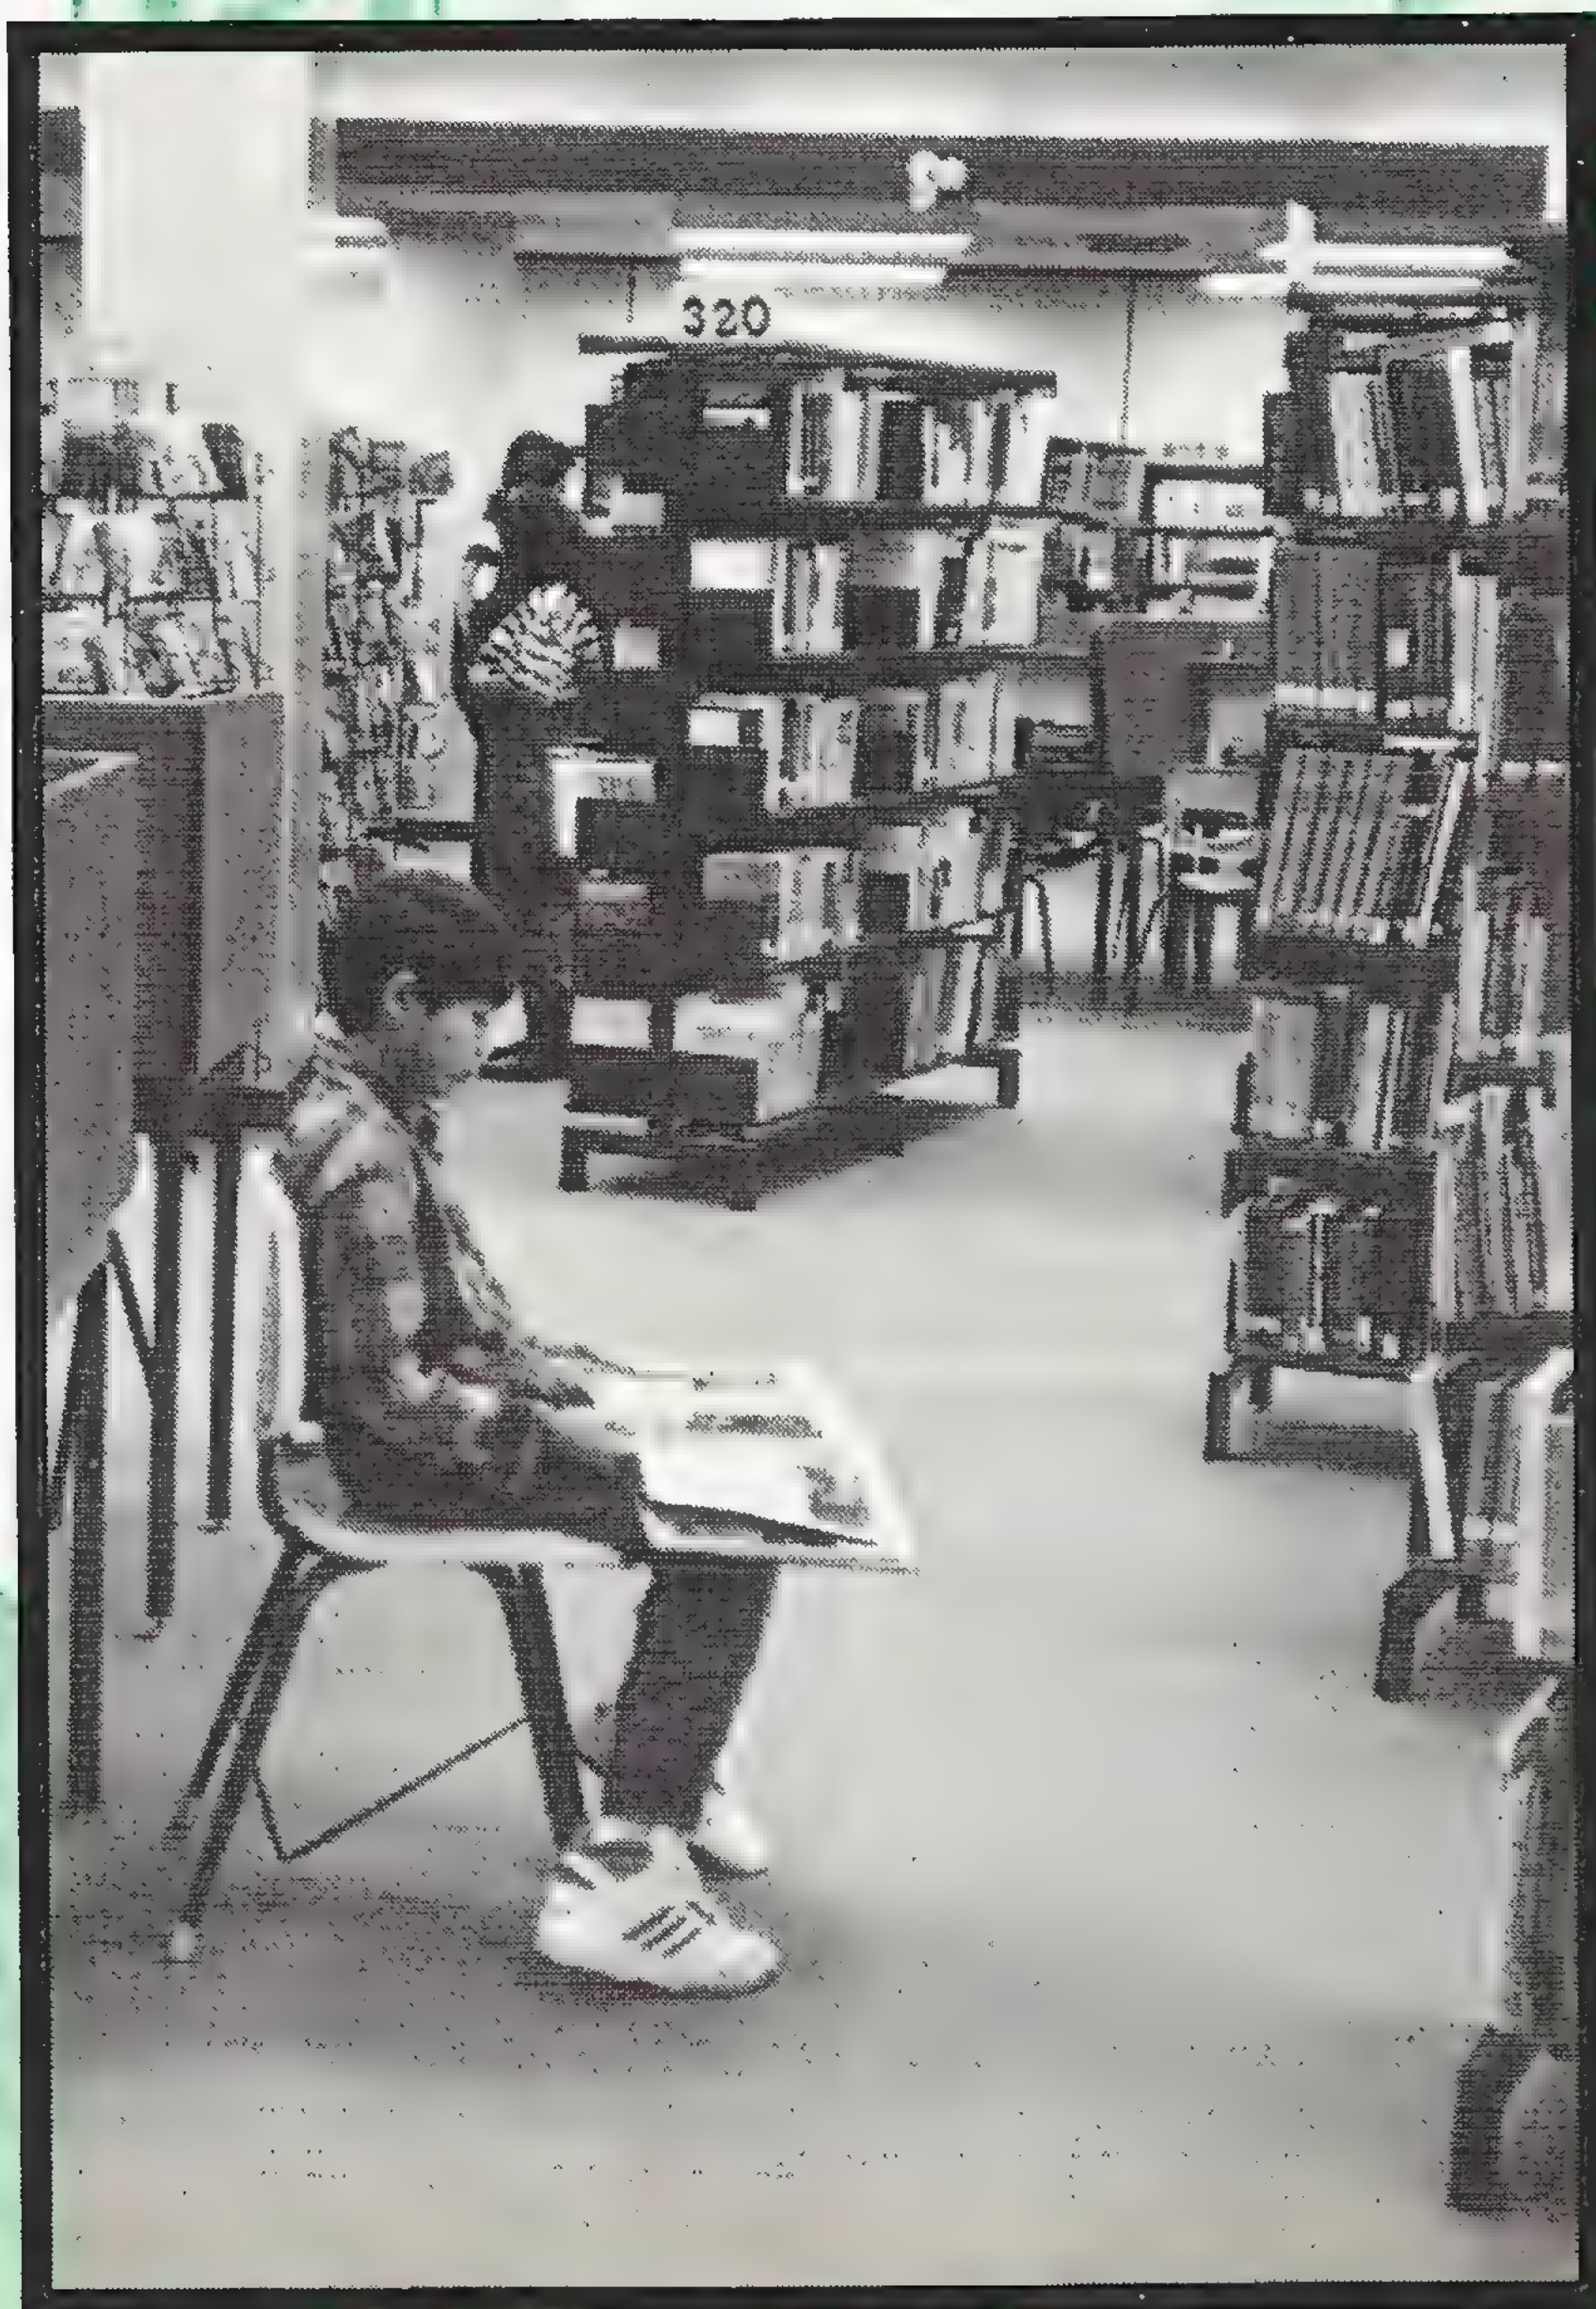

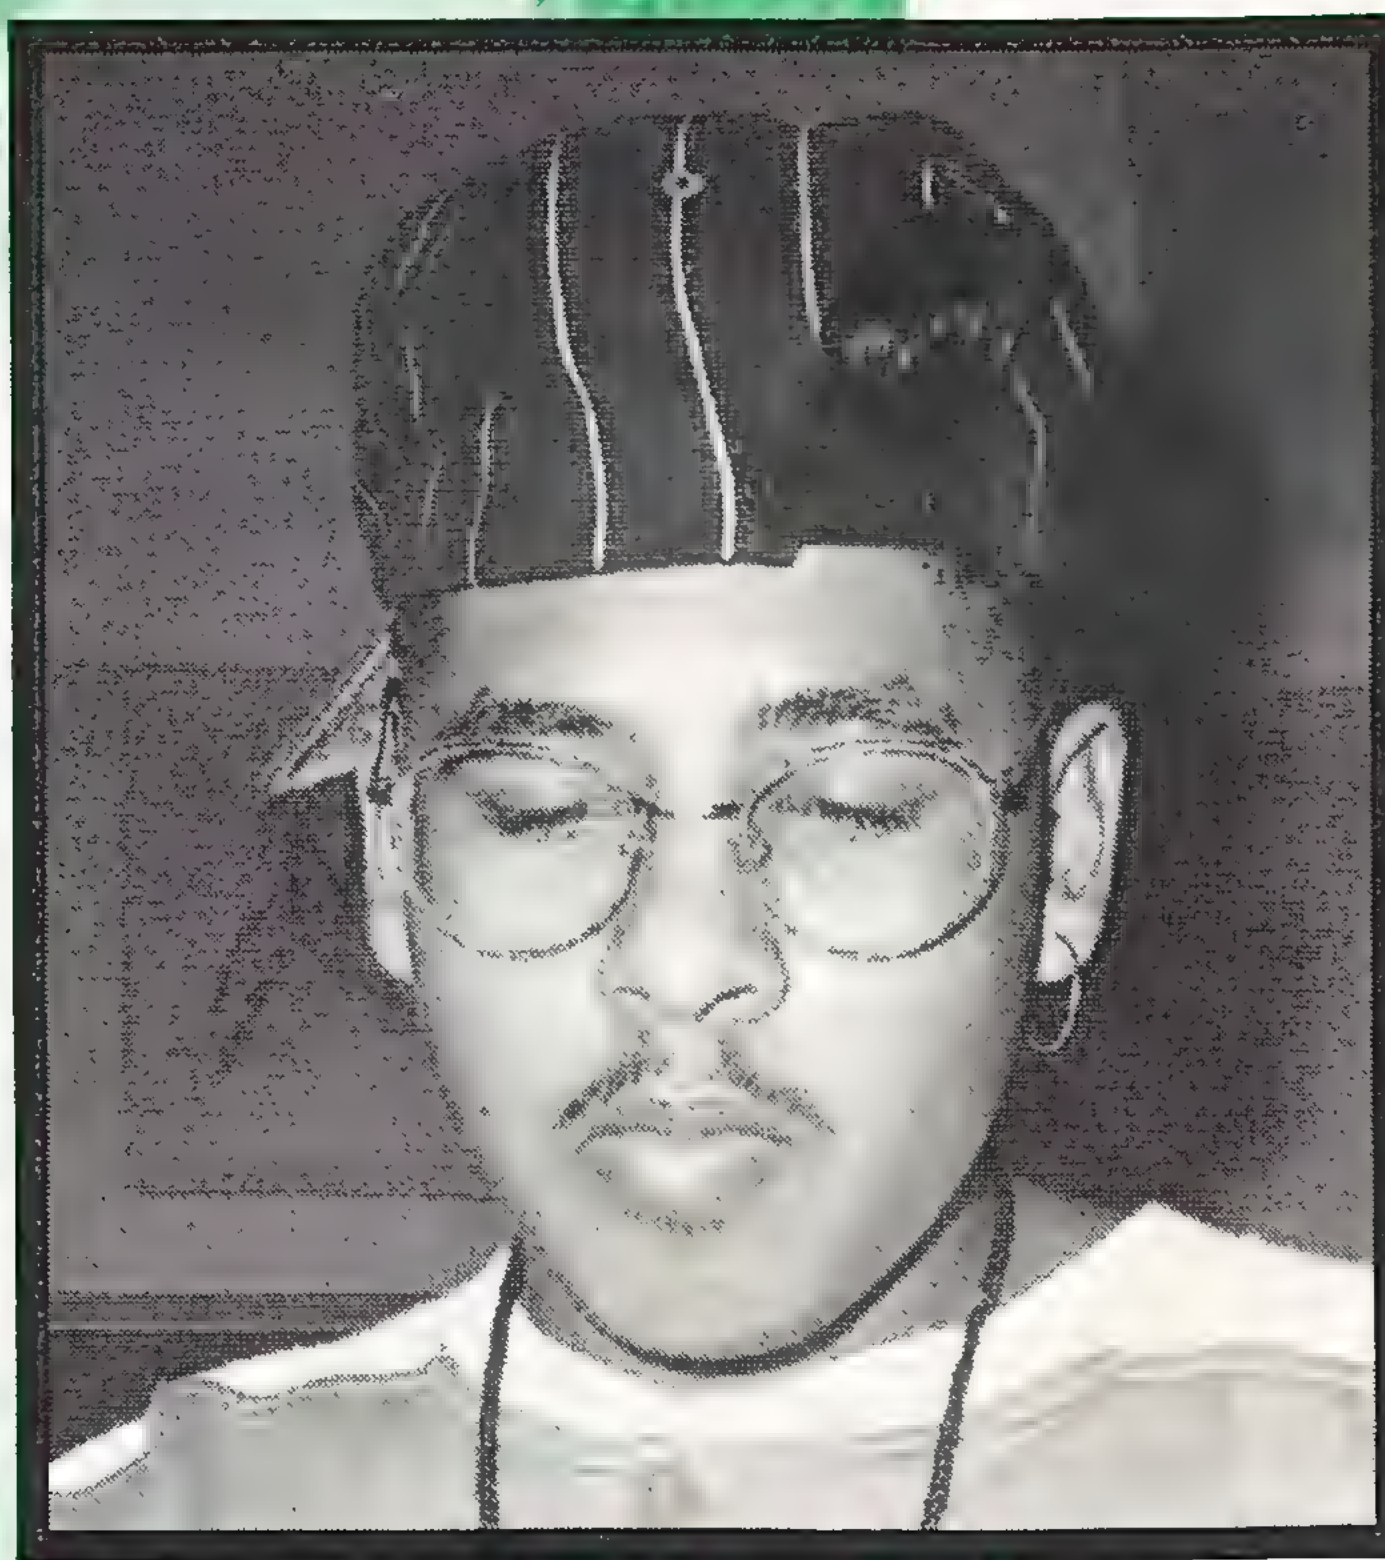

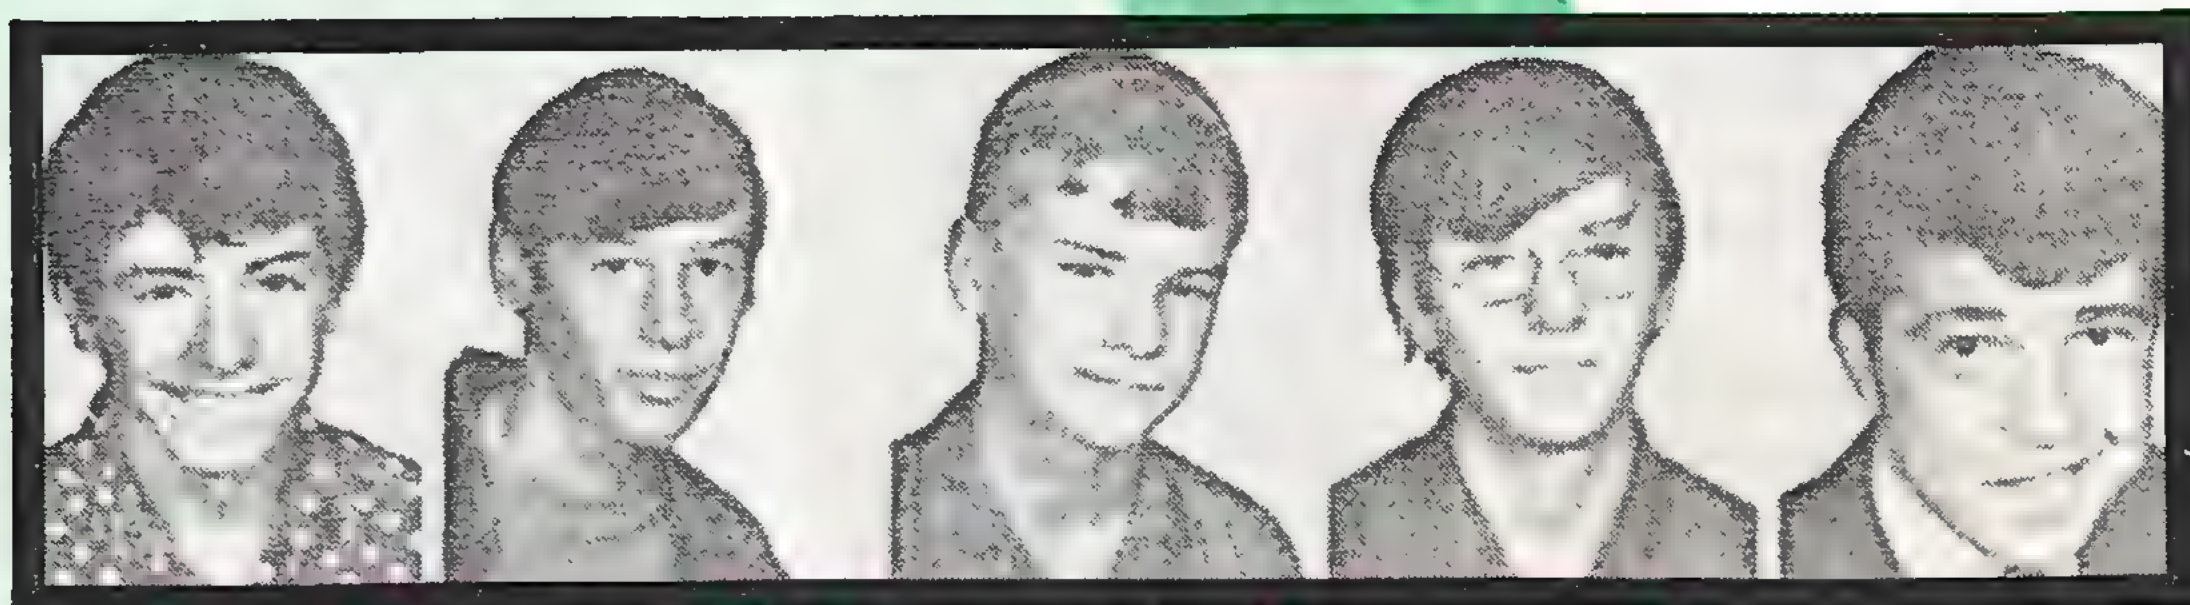

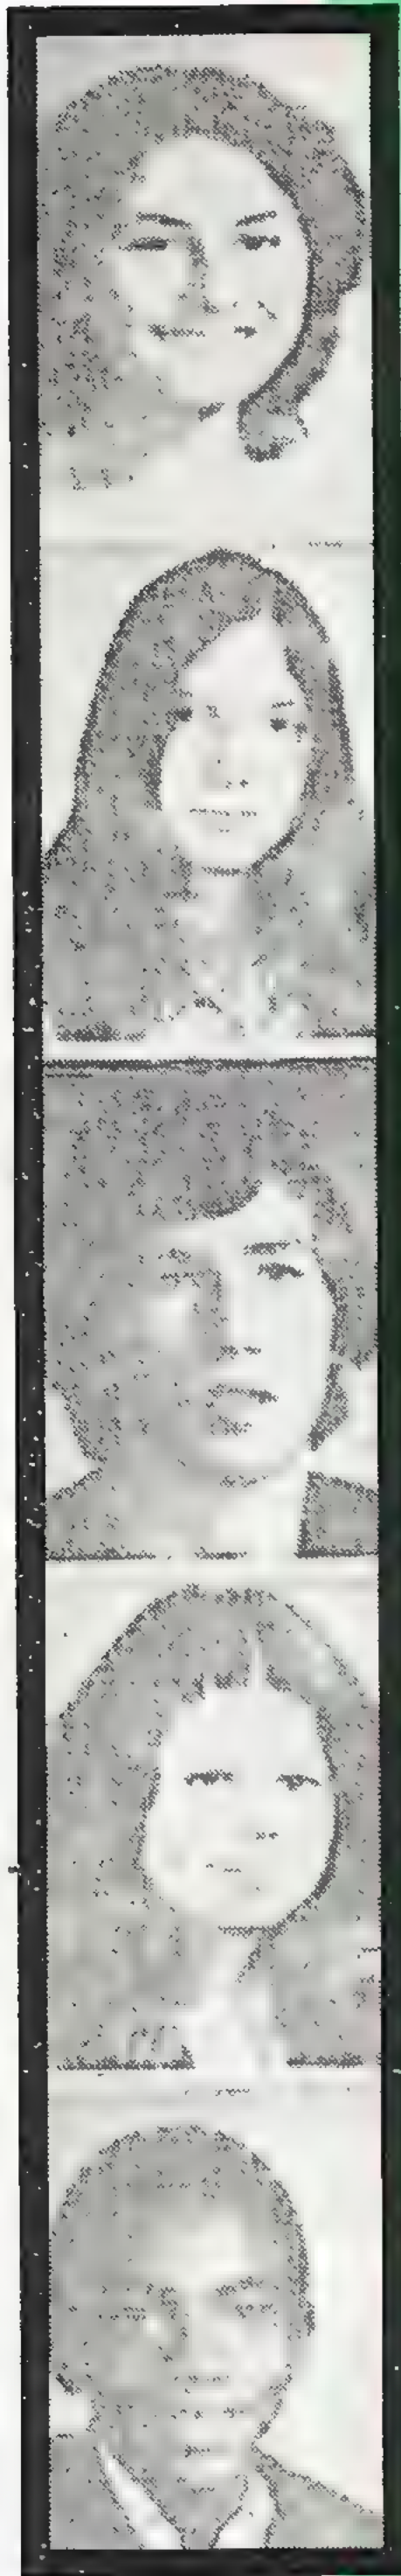

"That was fun, let's do it again!"

"You want ME to go up there?!"

STUDENT LIFE

CRUISE '92 FINAL FORMAL

Proms once meant committees of 20 to 25 eager students planning for a whole year. Today, 3 to 5 volunteers attempt this huge task and often no one agrees on anything (especially the rest of the grads) and everything costs too much. Last year, Westview's 'official' prom was cancelled for these reasons. Dissatisfied with this decision, a group of senior students headed by Vivian Tang and Hank Ma, organized a formal cruise for interested grads. On June 4, despite an overcast sky, this memorable night set sail on Lake Ontario

Thanks to Vivian and Hank for a night to remember.

LEARNING THROUGH TECHNOLOGY

Automobiles, fingernails, curling irons, T-squares, integrated circuits, capacitors, dove-tail joints and children's toys... What do all of these things have in common? Well, if you take Technical Studies at Westview, you should be familiar with some of these terms.

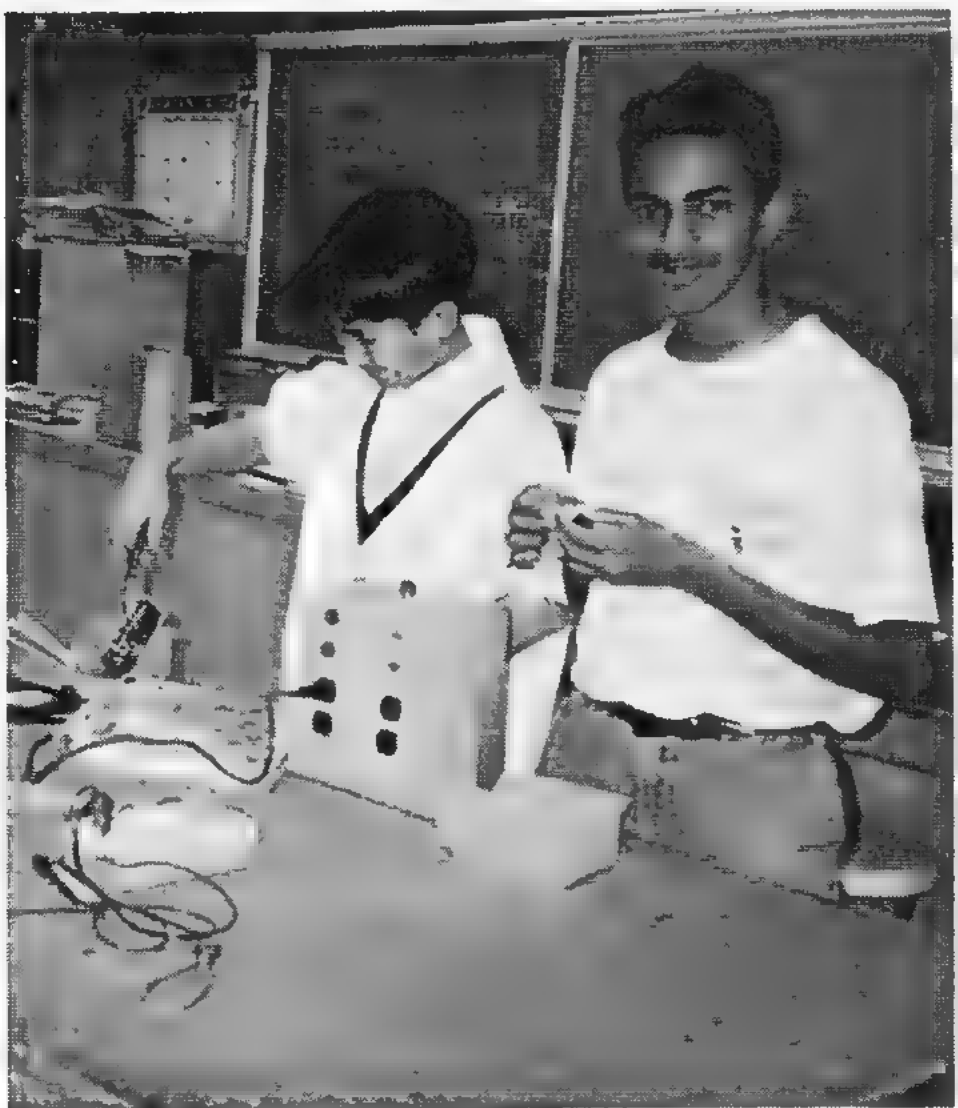

Our school offers many learning opportunities and practical applications in a variety of shops and classrooms. From drafting to woodshop to computer and electrical technology, these dedicated teachers prepare students for college courses, apprenticeship programs, trade schools and working careers.

And, not to be satisfied with past successes, this year the Tech. Department has been busily preparing for "Broad-Based Technology" -- the Wave of the Future!

So, stay tuned for incredible changes next year.

TECHNOLOGY

Voyageurs' 92 was a student travel and exchange program running from late September to November; it enabled about 25,000 young Canadians to visit different regions of Canada. The students of W.C.S.S. fortunately were a part of this opportunity to learn more about Canada and other Canadians. The program was supported and financed by the Federal Government, community volunteers, the private business sector, the North York Board of Education and the Society for Educational Visits and Exchanges in Canada.

On September 25, Stan Isoki escorted 9 Westview students to Fraser Lake, British Columbia. Hosted by students from the Fraser Lake Elementary/Secondary School, our students visited among other places, a salmon hatchery, a sawmill and an open-pit mine. The high point of the visit, however, was the opportunity for our urban teenagers to experience B.C.'s great outdoors.

When W.C.S.S. hosted the students from Fraser Lake in return, they were treated to a full-day excursion to Niagara Falls, the Blue Jays Victory Parade and a guided walking tour of downtown Toronto and other urban experiences.

On October 13, eight students and two teachers from a Native Cree-Ojibway Reserve in Northern Manitoba (Nelson House) were hosted by Westview. While in Toronto, these students visited the Ontario Science Centre, the C.N. Tower and attended a special film premier and tribute to Oscar Peterson at Roy Thompson Hall.

This program was completed when Joy Goodman accompanied another nine students from Westview to Nelson House in exchange. Outings to locations like Pisew Falls and Leaf Rapids (the 2nd farthest north community in Manitoba) impressed our Voyageurs with the remote beauty of the land. Two days out on a trapline in the wilderness left the students with memories of frigid teepees and hot bannock along with some knowledge of the Cree language, Native traditions and practices and some of the challenges faced by Canada's Native peoples. A truly lasting experience!

Hosting the students from Fraser Lake and Nelson House was a continuous challenge to the resources of both student and staff organizers and participants.

Special Thanks To:

- Maria Knechtel and Trustee Stephanie Payne for billeting students and teachers in their homes.
- Westview's Family Studies department and Barb Fry and our cafeteria staff for providing breakfasts for both our guests and their hosts.
- Fred Guthrie, Bob Green and the York University teacher candidates for the walking tours of downtown Toronto and other outings.
- Mike Stacey and the York Lions Club Steel Band for donating buses to take us to Niagara Falls.
- Shirley Pearl for tickets to the O'Keefe Centre.
- Principal Terry Kennedy and Superintendent Al Tatem for encouragement, assistance and support in clearing countless organizational hurdles.
- Ian Hall, without whom absolutely none of this could have happened.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The beautiful scenery of Fraser Lake held students in awe "Look Westview - No skyscrapers! - or houses - or cars - or smog!"

OUTWARD BOUND

On February 11th, ten Westview students left for their second outing with Outward Bound. Last October these students spent sixteen days on a canoe trip through Algonquin Park. Many of them, having never spent a night in a tent before, braved the rain, sleet, and snow, paddling through the wilderness. They took part in portaging, setting up camp, cooking over an open fire, and sleeping out in the bush. They learned how to climb a rock face and rappel down again. They also conquered their fears in the high ropes course, which took place on a wire forty feet off the ground. They gained confidence and self-respect. Since that time, they have been volunteering at John Boothe Arena, helping out with hockey teams for boys six to eight years of age. This second trip back into the wilderness involves winter camping out on the trail, cross-country skiing, snowshoeing, and braving the weather.

The program they are involved in is a pilot program offered jointly by Outward Bound and Westview and in successfully completing it, these students will receive a senior social science credit, not to mention a great experience that would not have otherwise been available to them. The students participating in this project were:

Gary Auerswald, Craig Chisholme, Robert Cole, Michael Gaudet, Warren Griffiths, Danny Kovach, Jeff Strachan, Long Tran, Gerald Wells, O'Neil Johnson

"Am I having fun yet?" Danny grits his teeth as he rappels down a cliff!

Giving each other moral support, Gary and Jeff prepare to become airborne.

A momentary breather at the top.

Harness checked, Robbie and Jay are ready to fly.

"Walking the walls" takes on new meaning.

"But, Splidey makes it look so easy!"

CO-OP ED

Co-operative Education at Westview provides our students with real work experiences. In classroom sessions, students are taught the finer arts of filling out job applications, interview techniques, dress and deportment, the importance of good communication and interpersonal skills and various other practical techniques so important during these high unemployment times. Students then apply these classroom skills during real job placements that often give students the edge in competing for coveted jobs. Ms. Smith is the quiet, soft spoken head of this increasingly vital department. She's been known to get a special smile when speaking of the many successes and positive experiences of her students. Just another example of Westview's dedicated staff and relevant programs.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL PRODUCES LEAGUE'S M.V.P.

CAPTAIN JOYLENE FRAZER

Girls' basketball has existed at Westview for the past 3 years and every year interest and the team have grown. While the girls were eliminated in the quarter finals this year after an 'up and down' season, it was always exciting and culminated in team captain, Joylene Frazer being selected the league's M.V.P. by North York's coaches. Westview's coaches Andrews, Goodman and Hebbes are very proud of our Lady Wildcats' fine effort and improvement and we look forward to an extremely successful season in '93!

CRICKET CHAMPS '92

The autumn of 1992 saw cricket finally become a NYSSAA sanctioned sport. This meant cricket would have a real trophy and medals for the players.

Westview was determined to be the first name on that trophy and we were!!

Senior players Amar Kishore, Chandrapaul and Rabindronnauth Rambali and Chandardat Sasharaine shared coaching duties. One member of the spring team Mansoor Bajwa was chosen to represent Canada in Europe during July's international play.

Staff sponsors were James Cameron and Anna Shea.

92/93

's season saw a rebuilding of the senior boys' volleyball team with few remaining players from the previous season. In spite of this, the boys enjoyed a great deal of success including a third place finish at Westview's tournament and a first at Humber's.

The junior boys' volleyball team finished in fourth place at the end of regular play. After earning a first place in the re-alignment tournament, the team advanced to the quarter finals where they lost a tough match to Mackenzie. They had placed third in both the Westview and Martingrove tournaments. With the addition of some of the Midgets moving up, the team has a bright future in the fall of '93.

A group of grade nine boys were assembled to form the Midget Boys Volleyball Team. They got off to a rough start; thanks to the weather, many cancellations - practices, tournaments, and more practices. The new semester brought stronger tournament play and the season continued at the time we went to press.

It was a season to be remembered! Westviews senior Wildcats came out fighting this year and clawed their way through the "B" division to the division title, but their success did not stop there.

In the North York Playoffs, the Wildcats took on the best of the "A" division teams and by playing their best basketball of the season, finished third overall and qualified for the Tri-City Championships. Although Westview lost to number one ranked Martingrove, our senior boys had made their mark on the high school scene and received many positive comments on their spirit and fine play.

We will remember this year's team for their courage and pride and so we honour: Kevin Haynes, Mike Khan, Theron Cumberbatch, Mobutu Merchant, Kofi Cropper, Ken Wilson, Howard Williams, Nino Jack, Ricky Davis and Captain Jeff Morrison for their efforts and dedication to the Westview Wildcats 1992-1993.

BOYS' BASKETBALL • BOYS' BASKETBALL BOYS' BASKETBALL • BOYS' BASKETBALL BOYS' BASKETBALL • BOYS' BASKETBALL

This year was an incredible year for boys' basketball at Westview. We were able to court midget, junior and senior teams which attests not only to basketball's popularity here, but gives future indications of continuing for years to come.

Our Wildcats all showed almost unbelievable improvement through the entire season. They became leaner, meaner and more skilled in all elements of the game. At times they flew down the court almost achieving take-off velocities and rose to slam-dunking heights. All of the boys on all of the teams showed us how a Westview team plays - from the heart!

BOYS' SOCCER 1990-92

The past season was the third year in a row that Westview has dominated soccer in the western region of North York: three years without a loss in regular season play! Along the way, Westview captured the North York Championships in '90 and '91; the Tri-City Championship in '91 becoming the city's representatives at the OFFSSA Provincial Championships in St. Catharines, and last year, Westview Seniors won the prestigious MetroSport Indoor Championship at York University, as well as being North York finalists.

Our outstanding team had many outstanding individual stars as well. The midfield was commanded by the Garcia brothers, Ernesto and Hugo. Ernesto was named most outstanding player of the forty team York indoor tournament. Striker Sean Jones, who annually scored the most points in North York, accepted a full athletic scholarship at High Point College in the United States where he continues to shine both on the field and on the Dean's List. Following his example, the speedy left winger Ruben Campos went on to Lander College on another full scholarship. Just last December, our outstanding keeper Roger Avila, now playing for Seneca College, was named to the Eastern College All Stars and was flown out to British Columbia and introduced to the crowd in Vancouver as a Westview athlete (it's too bad a broken leg kept him from playing in the game.)

Coach Peters' secret for success? "Skillful athletes, Westview Spirit - and sixty pounds of chocolate chip cookies!"

FAMILY STUDIES

he Family Studies department at Westview deals with very practical issues.

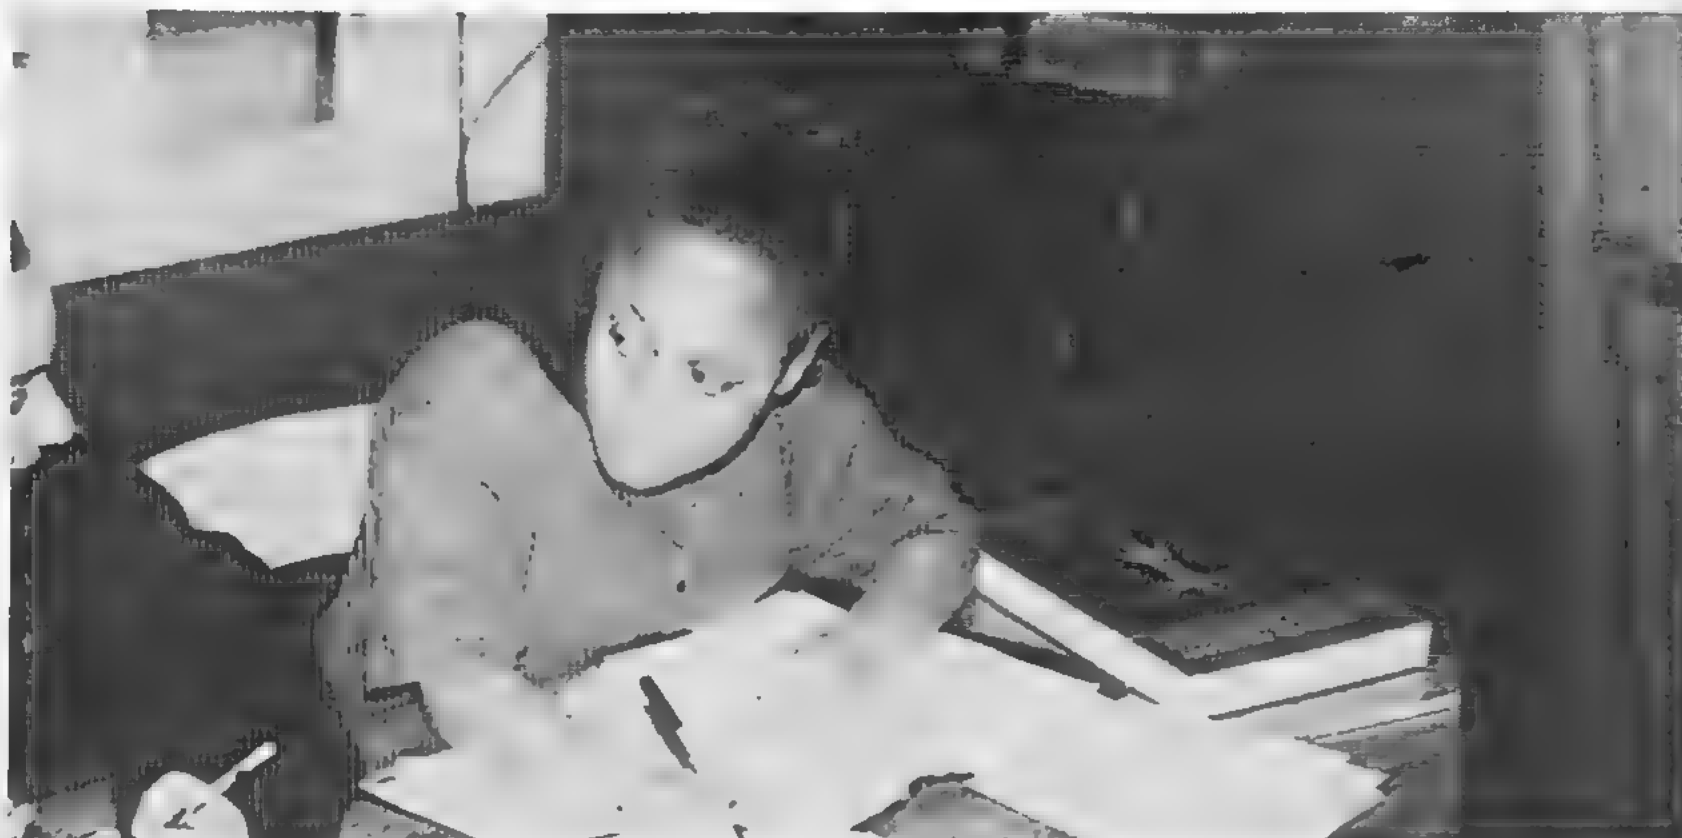

While some may take these issues for granted, our Family Studies teachers Mrs. Fry, Mrs. Young and Ms. Sendt headed by Mrs. Velji know and teach these critical concepts to students. How to prepare food and nourish our bodies.. How to clothe these same bodies..

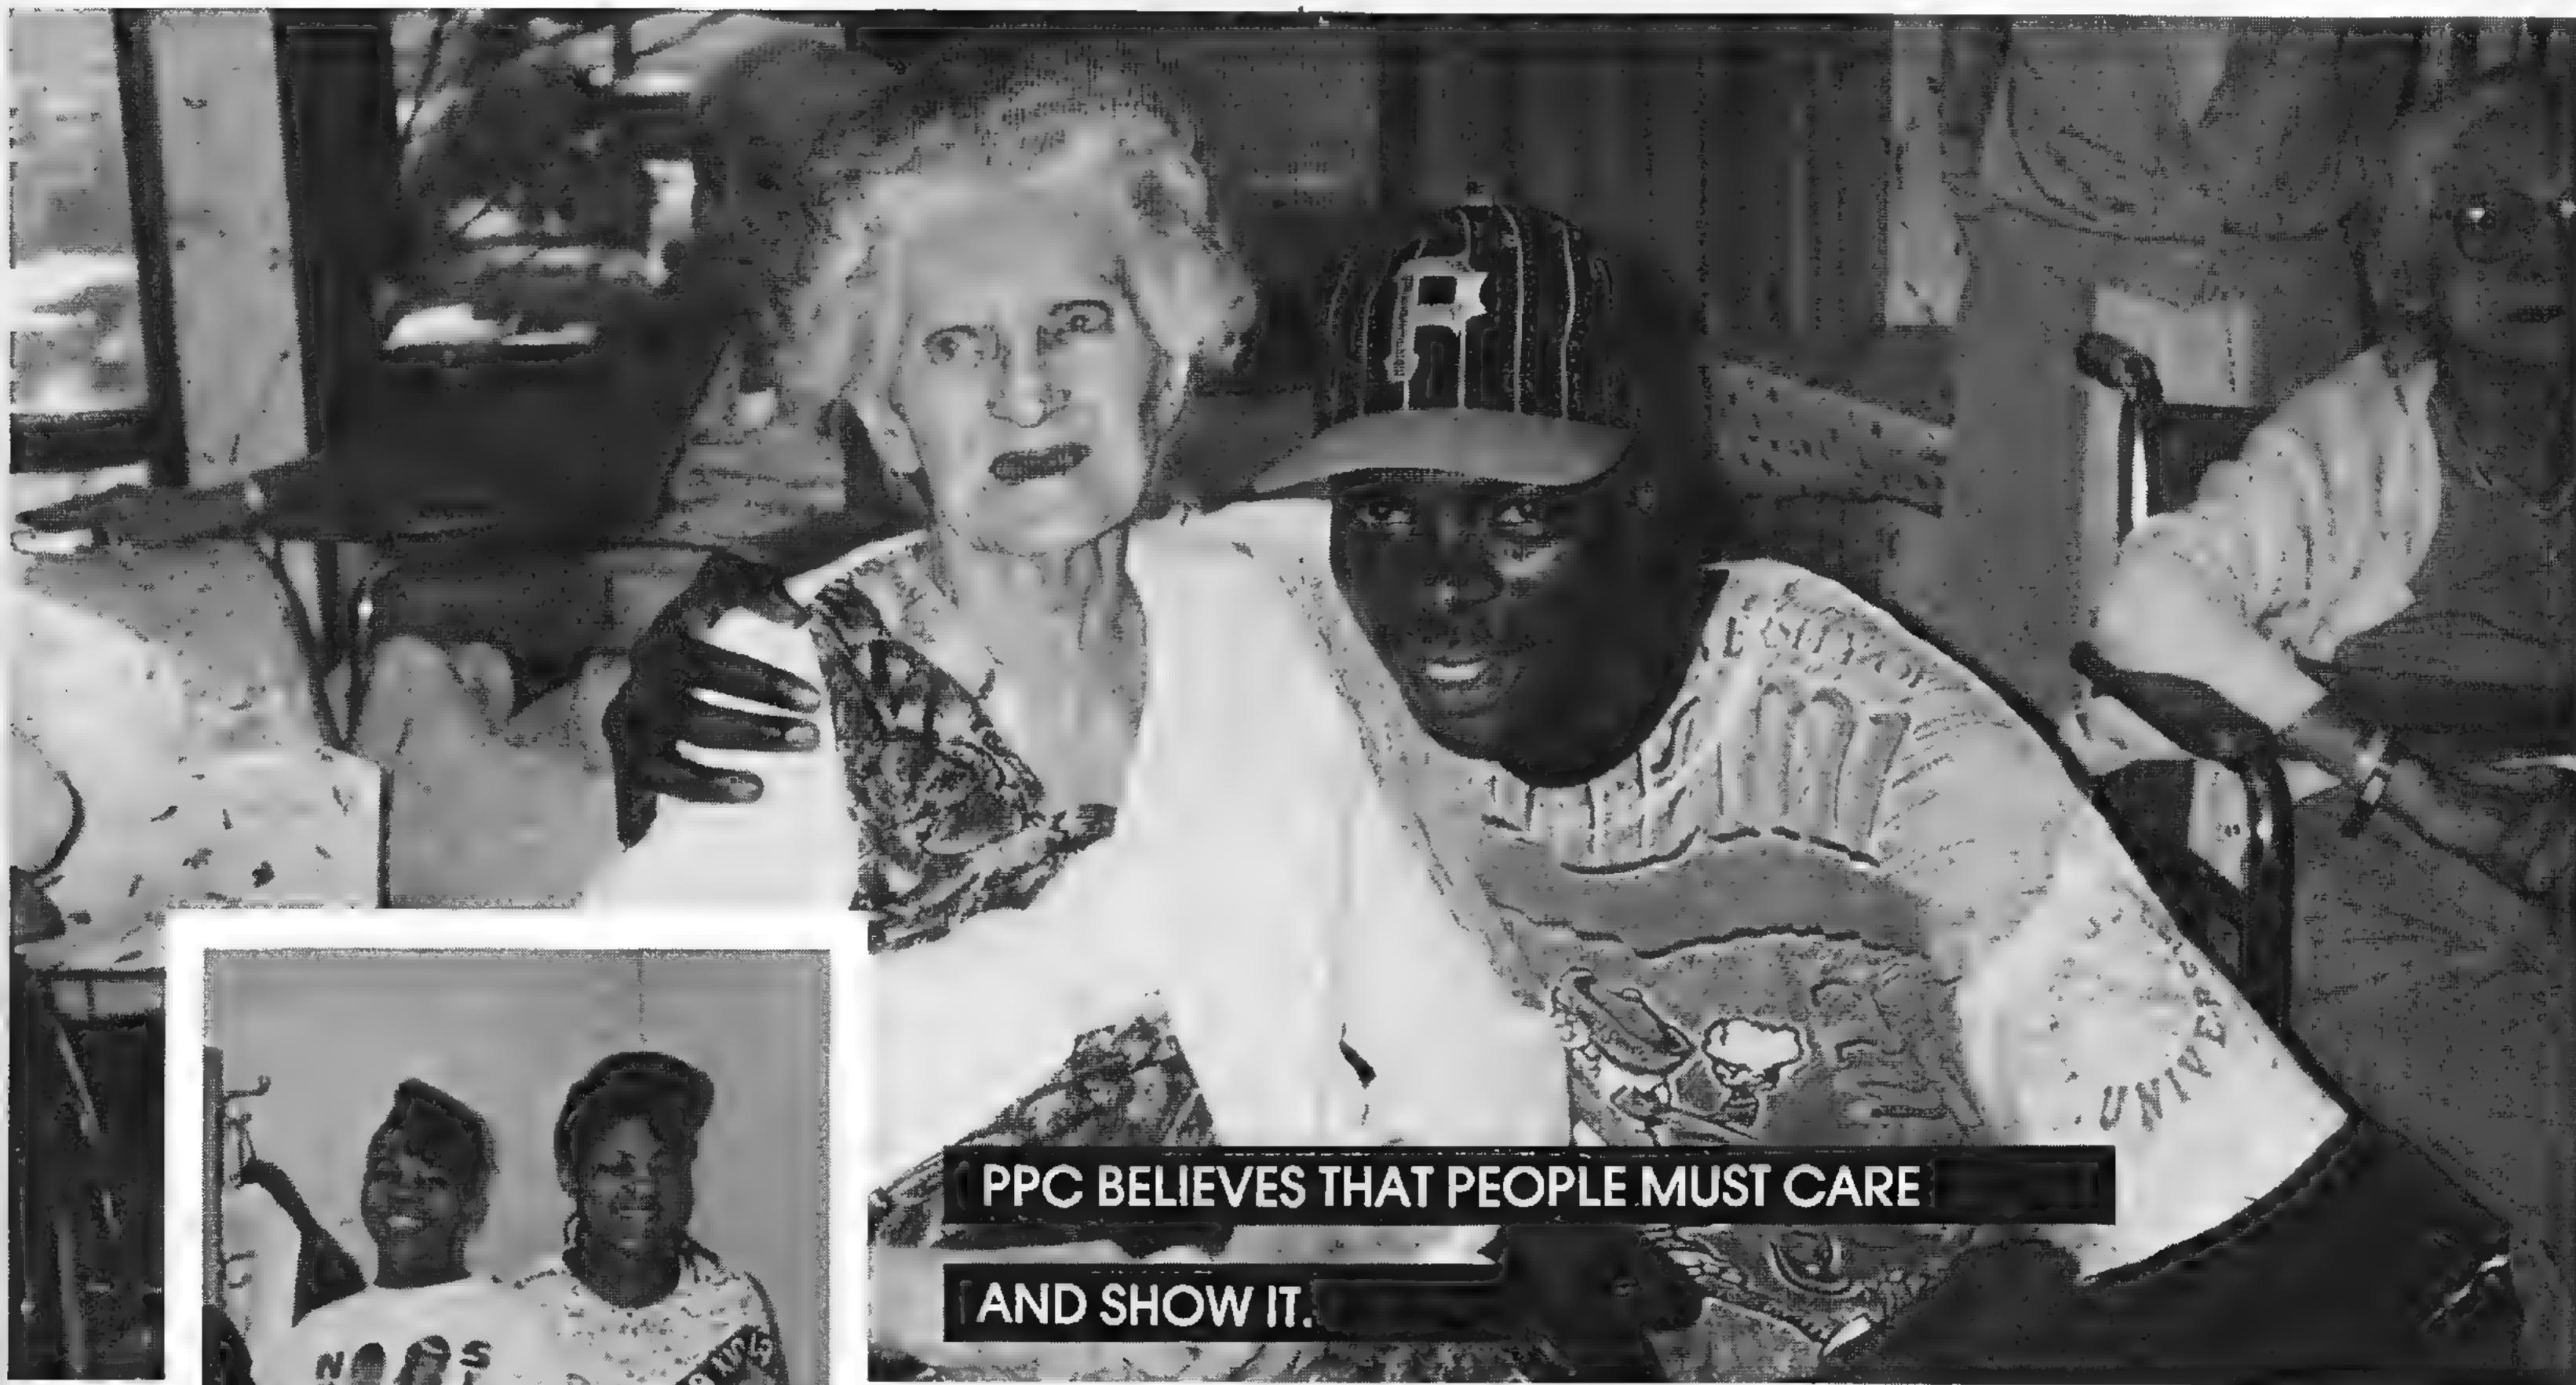

How to create a positive environment for ourselves.. and how to pass these skills to the next generation. Our future can be shaped in Family Studies and Westview's students will be better prepared to face it.

Mrs. Fry serves up Mr. Totino's specialty to an appreciative grade 9 class.

PPC BELIEVES THAT PEOPLE MUST CARE

IS STUDENTS HELPING OTHER STUDENTS

BEHAVIOUR IS BAD, NOT PEOPLE

PPC STUDENTS:

- Help other students become more successful with school work (i.e. helping students attend classes regularly, tutoring)
- Assist other students with personal and family concerns (i.e. listening, supporting, offering assistance)
- Help around the school (i.e. commencement, parent's night, Grade 9 program)
- Act as mediators in resolving conflicts.

WESTVIEW'S SPECIAL ART EVENTS

he beginning of semester II saw Westview acquire that most interesting of projects - "The Artist in the Schools". With our appointed sculptor, Eric Neighbour's help and encouragement, a normal school classroom was converted into, as artists say, "a dirty studio". After about two days into the program, there was no reason to ask why? If noise and clutter are any indication of creative activity, the artrooms of Westview were a veritable cornucopia as dedicated OAC students demolished room 130 while E.S.L. art rearranged room 128. But, at the end, after the sanding, painting and sweeping were done and the dust literally settled, marvelous art was created!

WESTVIEW ARTS

ARTIST, ERIC NEIGHBOUR

It was a star-studded celebration of one of the greats in the world of jazz, Oscar Peterson and Westview was at the Roy Thompson Hall as part of the celebration. Our school had been selected as a beneficiary of a new scholarship program, to help enable gifted graduates to continue their Arts Studies at York University. After screening "In the Key of Oscar", a feature film on Dr. Peterson, Westview student Vanessa Cornish (last years' Ron Botnick Memorial Scholarship in music recipient), accepted the award for the school.

"FREE YOUR MIND"

(WHITE RABBIT, JEFFERSON AIRPLANE)

elson Mandela, Mahatma Ghandi, Malcom X, Tianamen Square and the "X-Men". What do these names have in common? They became issues of controversy between senior art students and some members of staff earlier this year.

What sparked this controversy was a project assigned by Mrs. Goodman in her Comic-book Illustration and Cartooning course. Students were to form small groups and choose a socially relevant issue or positive role model to be depicted on the walls of Westview. Hopefully, each subject chosen had significance to the artists and the student body and gave students a sense of ownership of the building.

Nearing the end of Semester I, time was critical, paint was bought and work progressed very quickly and as the murals began to form, some observers began to ask why they had not known of the project in advance and why they weren't consulted. The artists, as most do... continued to work (One drawing was washed off on two successive nights). Still, the students continued. At this point, a hold was put on the project by school administration while these concerns were addressed.

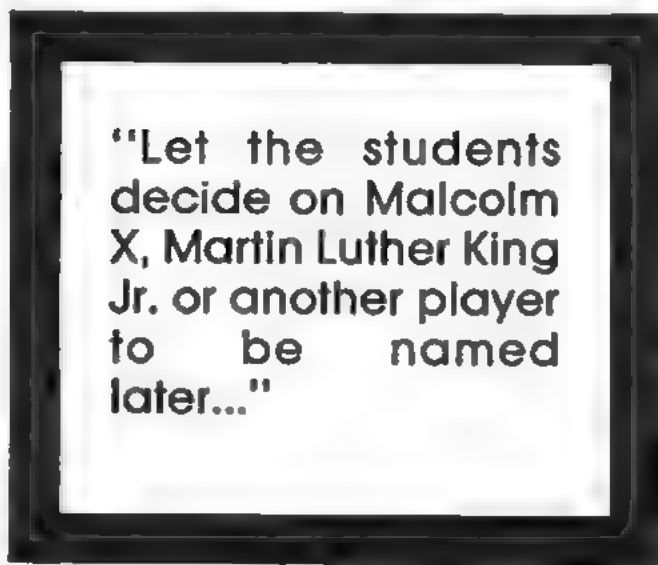

Quickly, an art advisory committee was formed to review all mural proposals and advise the principal as to their acceptability. The committee consists of a representative of the anti-racism education committee, Mrs. Goodman, school administrators, a student and a parent to represent all views, if possible. Students began to refer to this group as "The Censors" and they began to ask questions like "Why not Malcolm X?", "Why not depict one special event?" and "Why must we adhere to the wishes of a small group of people who are denying what we want?"

Pressure was exerted and the tank scene was modified to depict a universal character in front of a generic tank. The students admit that they felt frustration because while the meaning of their work was unchanged, the way they chose to show it had altered, - it had become publicly acceptable art.

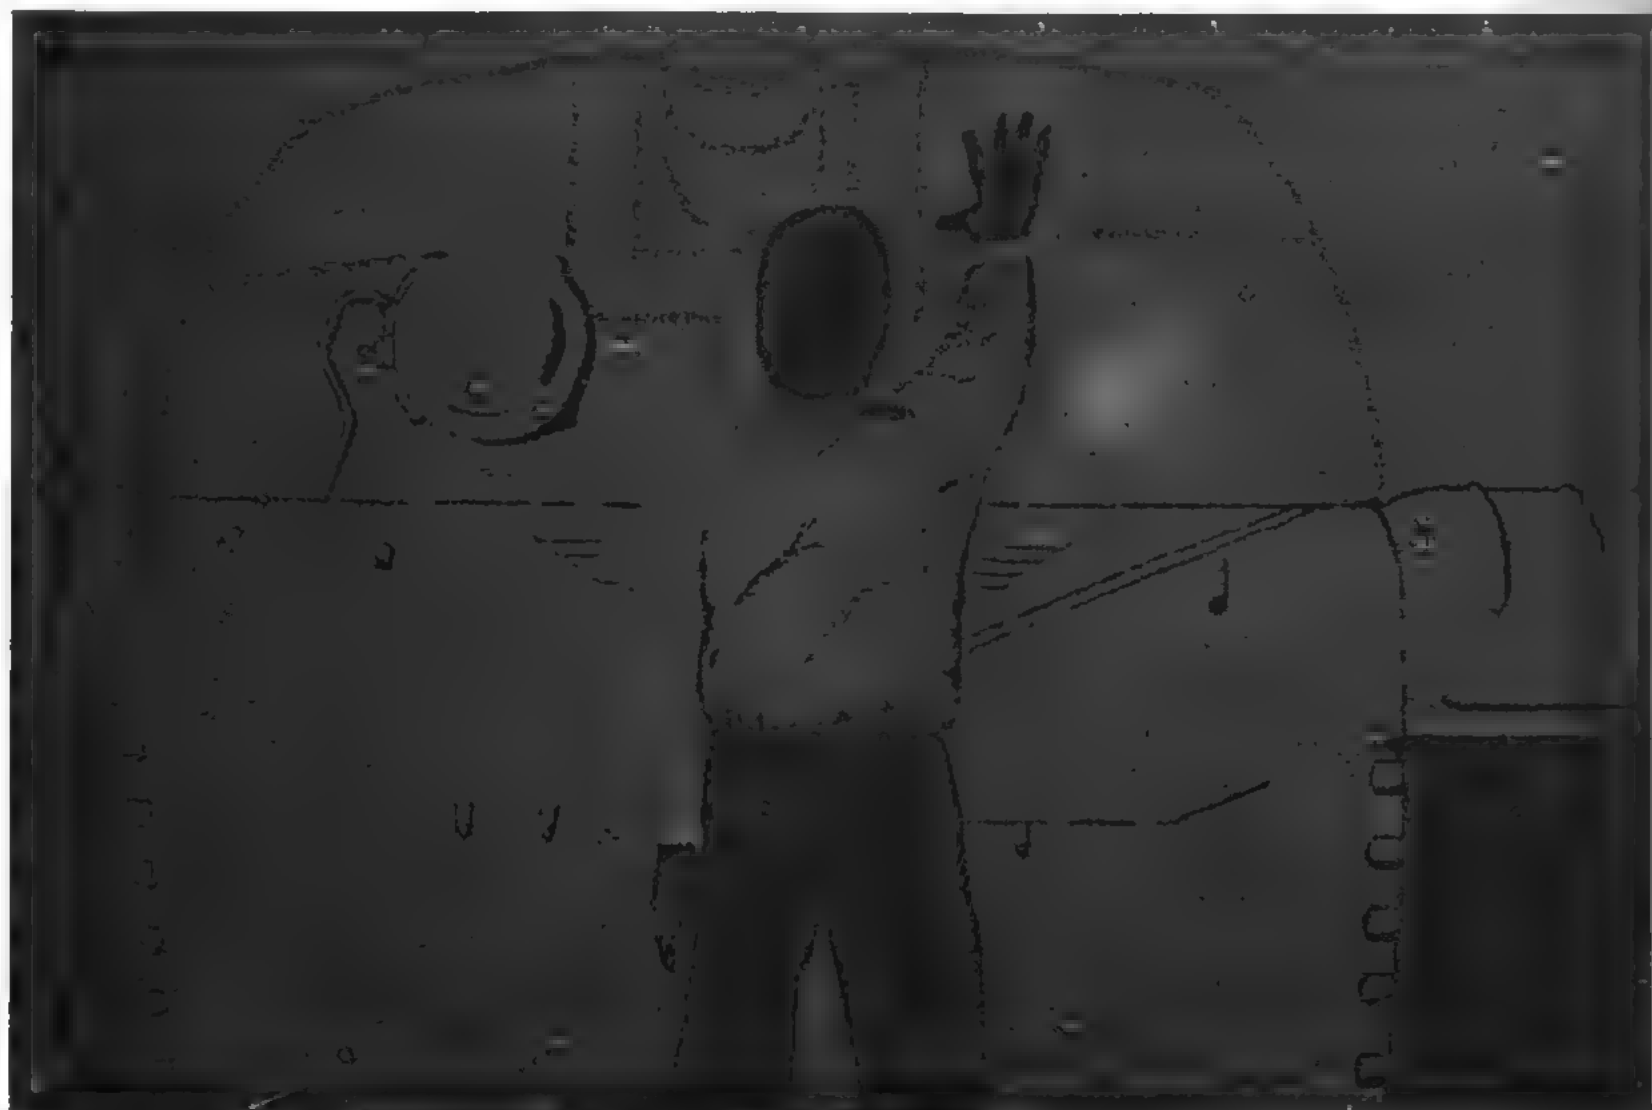

The group that had proposed to paint Malcolm X, agreed with the A.A.C. to let the students decide on Malcolm X, Martin Luther King Jr. or another player to be named later by the committee. Fortunately, with the arrival of the gutsy new principal, Ms. Twohig, approval was given for Malcolm X. No vote was needed and Tho, Jennifer and Lillian resumed work.

Although they became angry at these events, the students involved did not come away with a negative view of power structures, censorship and art in general. Rather, they learned that individual values don't always match society's and that art really is alive and controversial and maybe the artist can affect their audience's emotional response. They also learned that if they truly want to be heard and they have patience and are persistent, eventually, people will listen.

"Let the students decide on Malcolm X, Martin Luther King Jr. or another player to be named later..."

A LOVE POEM

Many many times ago,
I fell in love.
And I thought it was
The love of my life.
And it proved me wrong
To take it so seriously.
In my arms, this girl...
I still have feelings
for her.
